GUT-SHIELD

Our organic acid supplement is a comprehensive solution for promoting optimal gut health in livestock and poultry. It supports immune system function, helping to keep animals healthy and thriving. By maintaining optimal pH levels in the digestive system, our supplement helps to create an environment that is conducive to the growth of beneficial bacteria in the gut. This, in turn, helps to prevent the growth of harmful bacteria such as Salmonella, E. coli, and Clostridium, reducing the risk of pathogenic infections. Our supplement also improves nutrient absorption and utilization, helping to ensure that animals receive the maximum benefit from their feed. In addition, it can reduce symptoms of gastrointestinal disorders, leading to improved overall health and performance.
